

77 AD - 1937 AD - RANSOM FAMILIES : We will take our ancestors, ALL of them , down to the Clacton west beaches an April evening 1937 to measure them out in length as human beings with their families ...

Our parade reaches across 2 beaches & then we had to use a third beach to get in those of the so-called

`Dark Ages`

& back into the Roman Republic & Empire

beginning 1

` APRIL

EVENING

1937 ... FRED RANSOM & his daughter Greetah ... take our 1900 years of our ancestors to the Clacton-on-Sea BEACHES ...

I say `their faces are too distant from us, they upon the 3rd beach, our grandparents of the first centuries `

... my father say`th ...

“ WE WILL TURN OUR PROCESSION THE OTHER WAY ...

... I will bring them to the front to face us then we can lead them all along behind us, calling to them over our shoulders ... Look at them, many you know what they look like from the recorded portraits, the tombs, their writings ...

We have still things to discover ... but many of them speak to us from their own written words & say where more evidence is

& they speak of what they think as well as what they do

...

ITS NOT A DARK AGES

it is a glorious LIGHT

`... They are all good people & that is why they survived ... but they were educated in other tongues ... & did not fight to thieve the gold of others but lived honestly ... keeping a HEIMAT/homestead, often several about the globe to go to when MADNESS reigned, or pestilence came ... I AM

DISCOVERING WHAT BRINGS PEACE UPON EARTH ...`

The family RANSOM sometimes do this sort of thing around the globe - My GIRL of the SNOWS Aunt

Margareth Ransom at 15 years of age in 1856 began a HOME for industrial accidents Widows & their Orphaned children in she met a little bereaved distraught family one morning walking in the town ... That afternoon her father Fred Ransom bought her a Schloss they often stayed in ... the owners were retiring -

My father says at 4.30pm when I am come from St Clare Convent School Clacton-on-Sea " ... let us go to the beach to see this glorious evening daughter - I want to measure them all out somewhere ...

We go WEST into the late afternoon sun & find they will not fit in 2 beaches but must continue into the 3rd beach ... He says “ ... let us turn the Procession around then ... we will have the first of our ancestors come up to us ... you can speak to them now you know things about them ... ”

He holds his notebook & his file of paperwork under his arm having withdrawn it from his haversack & carefully puts away his flute - he is to learn a bit of modern music to play with friends - by the composer Paul Hindemith `Quintet for Wind instruments 1922` some parts of it remind me of a calm sea coming in rippling along the sands ...

My father is a 25 years old of medium height with gold straight hair & a sheen of red in some lights, & navy-blue eyes very slightly slanted from the recent RANSOM BRIDES Greenland & Inca - He has been in Germany with the British Army 1928-1932 & has spoken German since a young boy as well as many other languages including Japanese ...

He & his family RANSOM have to travel the world calling at the GROTE HOMES for CHILDREN ... for these million orphans consider THEMSELVES our family too - `Young Fred Ransom` cannot be bothered to play from the music sheets but likes to learn a piece from hearing it in his head ...

there are 78` records from HMV catalogue for gramophones ...

1937 April evening - My young father FJR & I GR see a gathering of people down the beach by the in-coming tide two beaches away & they are calling excitedly to one another & wave to us ... about a dozen grown-ups with big children & mothers in warm coats & hats were making their way towards the Pier & the road back to their lodgings for welcoming High Tea ... My father runs &
I skip towards them across the sands ...

The matter is a great shoal of shrimps !

it is two & three feet away from the waters edge ... We swiftly organise them with a bucket from our boat beached by the Pier & their own nets & sand pails ... they will take the shrimps back & `yes their landlady will cook them for that evening ` ...

Oh the excitement - probably they recall this for years & years & that holiday memory be found in some photos in an Album with a scribbled

`1937 Clacton `...

My father FJR knows where they stay & will call later that evening & talk with them - like MALRAUX

my father also talks good naturedly with everyone ... taking an interest in them as human beings ... ANDRE MALRAUX talks to people like my father FJR does, & with that same genuine kindness towards all human beings ...

HUMANITAS

is still a useful Latin word ...

We bid them have a nice tea ... we must back to our ancient sweet little Old Road home ... & we have borrowed a sand pail from one of their children for some shrimps for our tea ... DIRECTORY of RANSOM Families :

A list follows - some more records of their lives will appear in this Work as the restoration continues :

77 AD GAIUS - (including some new information 1960 gathered by Academic friends of Dr John RAY Ransom since 1941)

“ Comes to LONDINIUM in his own boat - he is of Jutland roots - father grandfather Sea Traders & held minor offices Egypt and around the Mediterranean - “ ... these Jutland traders seem to have been out there from 150 BC or more - we can trace them to a Settlement in Jutland 2nd century BC and an area 4th - 5th BC - they seem to have been particularly trustworthy & would therefore become Romanized - probably taking foreign wives ... GAIUS we think may have had an Italian wife ... ”

NB

his mother is Egyptian Arabic ...)

“ Before he comes to Londinium he had previously held a post in PALESTINE under Roman Rule
... he and another young man a son of his father but by another line

w ere out there

(Palestine)

together -

You should understand that AT THIS TIME SURNAMES ARE NOT OFTEN USED ...

but there is no doubt in the Records that I have been able to ask my colleagues to look up that this is him ... ”

“ ... it accounts for him being able to create a job for himself on the LONDINIUM Waterfront - checking the ships sailing into the Thames and only allowing up the river to ROMAN LONDON those who were legitimate Traders - there would be some fierce untrustworthy marauders-pirates ... He bought an island lower down the river but it was poor soil, stony and never grew very good crops but he built a good house there for wife and children And he may have bought land on shore near the walls of Roman Londinium & had a second residence - it would be safer for family in the wintertime & they would have friends in the budding metropolis ...

92 AD he sells the Island and retires to Suffolk ...”

“ ... ` DUNWICH area - the port is still used before silting and heavy erosion in Medieval times ... only place on that great sweep of the coast into the North Sea Norfolk Suffolk

OCEANUS GERMANICUS

to pull in from a sudden fierce squall ...`

I have asked your friend Mr Poulter in Hollytrees Museum about this ... ”

LIR & GR - one of our favourites - this ancient GRANDPA :

100 Years AD 'Portsmouth harbour' = RANSOM - this is a Latin speaking son or grandson of GAIUS

tells us how he pulls in November at what will be Portsmouth Harbour - he was late back across the Channel having been trading for his father & stayed too long - He describes feeling unsafe as old men in other ships eye him - he trusted two of his crew and the two orphans -

found 5 more orphans huddled under an old sail cold and fending for themselves

- got their confidence and risked leaving and sailed successfully back to DUNWICH Suffolk ...

... The Rule of Roman Shipping was to pull in from November to March ... if he had not done this dangerous WINTER sail successfully no RANSOM male line would be alive to-day ...
