NOVEMBER

Let baths and wine-butts be November`s Due,

With thirty mule-loads of broad gold-pieces;

And canopy with silk the streets that freeze;

And keep your drink-horns steadily in view,

Let every trader have his gain of you;

Clareta shall your lamps and torches send,-

Caeta, citron-candies without end;

And each shall drink, and help his neighbour to.

And let the cold be great, and the fire grand:

And still for fowls, and pastries sweetly wrought

For hares and kids, for roast and boiled, be sure

You always have your appetites at hand;

And then let night howl and heaven fall, so naught

Be missed that makes a man`s bed-furniture.
